This stone offers a dramatic contrast of large white crystalline formations set against a dark, smoky background. The irregular pattern creates a bold, organic aesthetic, making each slab a one-of-a-kind surface. For architects and designers, its strong graphic presence lends itself to statement applications — from feature walls and bar fronts to custom furniture and reception areas. Its natural contrast works especially well in large-format installations where the full dynamic pattern can be appreciated. Pairing beautifully with metals, glass, and minimalist finishes, this stone is chosen for projects where individuality, bold design, and a sense of exclusivity are required.
